REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: McClelland discloses the use of a method and a portable device for inspecting baggage, where the baggage goes through one scanning machine, then a plurality of baggage are flagged for further inspection and go into a queue for inspection. However McClelland fails to disclose the method and device being used for shipments or discloses the list for upcoming shipments, and fails to disclose identifying a first shipment of goods based on the information about the shipment of goods, then transmitting wirelessly the inspection results. Obrador (US 2002/0049660) discloses the use of a PDA which transmits inspection results information and Moore discloses the use of wireless communication used on border crossing. NPL reference submitted by the Applicant (Computerized Customs Clearance Will Speed Cargo Transit) discloses the use of a computer being used to transmit and receive customs information as well as inspection information. However fails to disclose the use of any task list which comprises information about shipments to be inspected, displaying the information on a screen, identifying a first shipment to be inspected and then receiving results of an on-site inspection. Therefore at the time the invention was made, a Portable Device, Computer and Method, where a task list of known information about a plurality of shipments of goods prior to inspection is received, the task list is displayed of the upcoming inspections, identifying at first shipment to be inspected based on the known information which is received on a task list, then receiving the inspection results of an onsite inspection, is not anticipated nor rendered obvious over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
